Melbourne, Australia - Monday, 13 October 2008 - Nocturnal has unveiled Flowerworks™, an original PC casual game.

Flowers and fireworks usually don't mix, but Flowerworks™ turns nature on its head in this accessible and original title. Flowerworks™ combines puzzle, exploration and action elements in an addictive, explosive adventure.

The player takes the role of Follie, a sassy alien gardener who crash-lands on an unknown planet. Horrified by the planet's lack of style, she brings it to life by recovering her Flowerwork seeds, growing flowers and terraforming the planet into a bright, vibrant world. On her adventure she will meet the local inhabitants, gain incredible new powers, and ultimately unravel the secrets of the planet.

Both casual and hardcore gamers will enjoy Flowerworks™. The unique gameplay involves catching seeds, feeding flowers, mixing colours, and timing fireworks to unleash explosive combos.

Flowerworks™ features over 50 unique levels, a free-play area for unlimited gameplay, and a huge world to explore.

Flowerworks™ is planned for release this year on Windows 2000/XP/Vista operating systems.
